What is colostrum?

Biological gold, super substance or even magical milk — such names scientists have given to colostrum. This precious liquid is produced by mammals a few days after delivery just before breast milk is released. It promotes a function of the immune system and provides this with antibodies against viruses and bacterium and nutrition for muscle's development. Goat colostrum is most similar to human ones, so it has wholesome effects on our organism.

The goat colostrum contains all necessary substances for performing the function of organism properly, such as IMMUNOGLOBULINS (IgG, IgM, IgA), POLYPEPTIDES RICH IN PROLINE (PRP), GROWTH FACTORS, LACTOFERRIN, CYTOKINE, AMINO ACID, VITAMINS (mainly A, C, E, and also group B vitamins) and MINERALS (Ca, P, K).

BOOST YOUR IMMUNITY

Goat colostrum provides you with precious immunoglobulins and other necessary substances which support the immune system when fighting against viruses and bacterium. You may use it in the supportive treatment of illnesses such as cold, flu, bronchitis or pneumonia. It is recommended as a supplement when taking antibiotics, or even when having digestive problems. Goat colostrum also helps to speed up recovery after surgery, injury and burns or even after oncology treatment.

REGENERATE MUSCLES, SUPPORT PERFORMANCE

You cannot miss its recovery effect in combination with regular training. Take advantage of the ability to regenerate with high-quality proteins and amino acids that boost your performance and muscle growth. Colostrino will be your first choice when you need to restart after physical and muscle fatigue.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR DIGESTION

Fight against stress impact with goat colostrum by your side. When using regularly, it may stimulate healthy digestion, support the therapy of diarrhoea or decrease colic symptoms.
